Recording Session

It's confirmed, the recording date for my first guided meditation CD is June 20th. I'm in the process of rehearsing and fine tuning the script. Hopefully the mastering of the CD will go well and the recording will be available in CD and download formats sometime in July. Not wanting to give a way too much just yet... I can say that the intention of the meditation is to bring the listener into a very deep meditative state... a place where divine grace will permeate body, mind and spirit and to help raise consciousness.

Here are some photos of the book signing event I did at the Gloucester Chapters on June 6th & 7th. I had a great time and met some lovely and interesting people.

I want to send out my gratitude to all those who came to say hello and a big thank you to those who purchased my book.

I'd love to hear back from you and perhaps get a review from you either posted on Amazon or sent to me by email so I can post it on my website!

My next book signing event will be on June 13th at South Keys Chapters. See page 2 of this newsletter for more details. I had a draw for a canvas tote bag with the book cover printed on the front and the winner was notified, so congratulations to the winner!

I'm looking forward to doing more events soon so keep a lookout.

Oh, and if you know of good places I can go do book signings please let me know!

New Newsletter Feature - Meditation Stone of the Month!

Sodalite

This dark blue stone is all about balance. Balancing the logical with the abstract, thinking with intuition, order with chaos. Use this stone in your meditation when you seek to make sense of things that elude your understanding. It can help you to experience your own personal truth in any life-situation and help you come to terms with the unknown and inexplicable. Lift the cloak of confusion around you by focusing your attention on the sodalite stone while in meditation or wear the stone as jewelry or simply put a tumbled stone in your pocket as you go about your day.

BLESSINGS TO ALL!

Please share with you family & friends!
